THE HOT NEW NIP/TWEAKS FOR 2011!

The Lunchtime Knee Lift

What is it? There's a new non-invasive procedure which is perfect for a subtle lifting effect on saggy areas of skin. 'Pellevé' uses radiofrequency waves to heat up the skin and stimulate new collagen - the protein that keeps your skin elastic. It's perfect for areas with loose skin like kneecaps, elbows and tummy, and it's also great for the face. It works straightaway and there's no downtime. It lasts around six months.

How much is it? £600.

Where to get it: Visit www.pelleve.com to find a local practitioner.
